

Group IRB Assignment

Group Assignment: IRB

Due: Monday 3/27/17

Overview

All human-subjects research must be approved by the University's Institutional Review Board prior to data collection (if you are planning on publishing anything using that data). This assignment involves drafting an IRB protocol for your group's study.

Submitting

You will need to submit a zipped folder containing the following documents:

- Main protocol document
- A consent form
- An example of how you plan to recruit participants (e.g., a flyer or job board advertisement)
- Examples of subjective questionnaires with scales you have constructed or validated measures, if you plan to use them (these do not have to be "final" but should exemplify the types of questions you will ask)

DO NOT SUBMIT YOUR PROTOCOL TO THE IRB (I will review your proposal and may return yours for further editing prior to submission to the IRB). Instead, upload the completed documents as a .zip folder to this assignment.

Resources:

Please see the CU IRB website for information on getting started writing an IRB protocol. Template documents can be found on the IRB Templates website. For your convenience, I've directly linked the two main templates here (NOTE: your group may require different and/or additional templates, such as a pre-screening template, which can be found on the IRB site):

- Protocol Template
- Consent Form (Note: the consent form in the sample IRB package provided below uses a different format. Feel free to use either)

You can find an example of an approved IRB package here. You can use the questionnaire provided in the sample package for the draft application, assuming it aligns with the type of data you plan to collect for your experiment.

Don't wait till the last minute to get started on this. Let me know early if you have questions as you are developing your protocol.
