All,

On Monday we will begin a series of lectures on statistical analysis that will use JMP and R, two common statistical software packages. Please download both of these applications prior to class (I also recommend downloading RStudio), ideally on a laptop you can bring with you to class.

Dan